7 ventilation & design perfected

Experience the perfected combination of ventilation and design in our STEALTH Aluminum Soffit System. This low-profile and high-efficiency design features an attractive, smooth exterior surface without any visible venting. Beneath its sleek exterior is a hidden ventilation system providing continuous air flow to keep attics cool and dry.

Hidden vents deliver total net free air of 8 square inches per lineal foot, allowing a healthy exchange of air. Continuous air circulation keeps dangerous hot air out in summer months and prevents high levels of moisture, which can cause mold, mildew and ice damage.

- Prevents premature aging of roof systems
- Provides optimum air-flow
- Never needs painting
- Guaranteed not to crack, fade, or peel
- Long lasting quality maintains beauty for decades

Stealth Soffit panels provide the clean look of solid panels with the functional efficiency of hidden vents and improved air flow (8 sq. in. per lineal foot net free air).

Strong enough to withstand the elements easily installs and is virtually maintenance free

Stealth Soffit is strategically designed for quick and easy installation. Our panels are 33% wider - 16 inches rather than the competition's standard 12 - so fewer are needed saving you time. The panels' positive interlocking "I-beam" construction results in extraordinary strength, secure fit, and graceful, flowing lines. It's a perfect marriage of form and function.

ALSCO engineers understand that every detail of a home's exterior should enhance both its appearance and its value. Stealth Soffit panels deliver, and they do so year after year without the expensive and time-consuming maintenance other products require. The quality, beauty, and durability of our panels guarantee they will bring enjoyment from one generation to the next.
